

ASCENT The Operating System of Capture

SCRIBE

CAPTURE TO WORKFLOW AND MICROFILM ARCHIVE SIMULTANEOUSLY

The Ascent Scribe custom module enables Kodak microfilm archiving from documents captured with the industry-standard Ascent Capture data and document capture platform. Specifically, Scribe integrates the Kodak Digital Science Document Archive Writer (DAW) with Ascent.

The Ascent Scribe module can be easily added to the Ascent Capture workflow to automatically send batches of documents to the Document Archive Writer for permanent storage on microfilm. This integration provides a simple solution to the complex problem of making information immediately available for business transactions while simultaneously ensuring that the information will be readily accessible for disaster recovery or long-term use.

PRODUCTION ORIENTED

Whether your current requirement is just capturing data for permanent archiving or to simultaneously feed a workflow system, a content management system and the archive, Ascent Capture with Ascent Scribe and the Document Archive Writer will work for you. By using Ascent Capture as the front-end for each of these systems your documents will undergo the same rigorous capture process to ensure the quality and accuracy needed for immediate workflow or for finding and reading documents 100 years from now.

Ascent Capture is the industry standard for ease-of-implementation and use. Together, Ascent Capture, a Kodak document scanner and a Document Archive Writer create a complete solution for Digital Preservation.

Ascent Capture also includes support for more than 90 content and document management systems. The Ascent Scribe module adds the ability to link the worlds of content management and digital preservation by automatically passing information from the DAW to any of these systems.
